Re: ARRA Reporting Update

Dear Mayor:

Congratulations to all who have successfully filed their first quarter ARRA reports this weekend. We commend your hard work on and dedication to this unprecedented task.

A further review of FederalReporting.gov provides guidance for those who missed the deadline.

In part, the guidance states, "since this is the first time that recipients are submitting data reports and some states are encountering technical challenges in filing bulk reports for their recipients, FederalReporting.gov will remain open for reporting until October 20. During this 10-day grace period, late filers may submit their required quarterly report. However, they must explain their reasons for delayed reporting, and they will be later identified on Recovery.gov as late filers."

We encourage you to pass the following information along to all of your professional staff and other interested parties. For complete information, visit www.federalreporting.gov.

Very truly yours,

William G. Dressel, Jr.
